KINGSTHORPE FIREBALL: A large tyre fire at Quick Auto Services spread smoke across town as residents were evacuated from their properties

Residents have to be evacuated as tyres blaze

A large fire at a tyre garage in Kingsthorpe, Northampton sent thick plumes of black smoke across the town yesterday.

Firefighters were called to the blaze at Quick Auto Services, in Ruskin Road, at 2.30pm, while police officers evacuated the area.

Thick smoke could be seen billowing from the building from across the town, as panic-stricken residents watched fire crews battle the blaze.

Police were forced to close Ruskin Road, as well as a section of Harborough Road.

Within one hour, the fire had died down and eventually no more smoke could be seen leaving the building.

And at 3.30pm, the evacuated residents were allowed back into their properties.

No casualties have been reported. The cause of the fire is unknown.

STOP AND SEARCH IS REFORMED

TOP TRIO: Duwayne Brookes, chief constable of Northamptonshire, Simon Edens and Northamptonshire Police and Crime Commissioner, Adam Simmonds

BY LAWRENCE JOHN

lawrencejohn@hpnorthants.co.uk

Northamptonshire Police is trailblazing a new policy with its policing of stop and search in the county.

Officers have been told if they get the stop and search wrong three times, they will be re-evaluated on how they carry out this part of their duties and if proven they will have to apologise to the individual they stopped and searched.

The force has already adopted a policy whereby a community panel, consisting of senior police officers and members of the public, can review stop and searches carried out in the county.

The panel has the power to withdraw stop and search powers from individual officers who continue to carry out unreasonable searches.

Duwayne Brooks, a friend of Stephen Lawrence, who was with him on the night of his murder, will be carrying out the review of stop and search in the county for the Police and Crime Commissioner.

A survey carried out by the police commissioners' office found that 64 per cent of people stopped in Northants were aged between 13 and 24

County leads the way with review panel for searches

I hadn't realised there was a Stop And Search 'problem' in Northamptonshire. Our Police Commissioner Adam Simmonds launched a report this week which shows how well the police are tackling the problem, and to be fair they are achieving things.

Stop and Search is at the root of a lot of community tension in metropolitan areas.

But in our county a groundbreaking approach gives the public a chance to complain if they think it has been done unfairly or impolitely.

So there we are - a problem on its way to being solved that I suspect quite a lot of us didn't really know we had.

I'm certain the reason I didn't realise there was a problem is because I am white, middle class and at home most nights.

Even in Northamptonshire, away from the bright lights of the big cities, disproportionate numbers of young people and people from ethnic backgrounds are stopped and searched by the police.

64 per cent of those stopped and searched are between the ages of 13 and 24

Adam Simmonds, our Police and Crime Commissioner, ordered a survey carried out and discovered that 64 per cent of those stopped were between the ages of 13 and 24.

Of those stopped half felt it was done unfairly.

Over the past year since the new approach to Stop and Search was introduced, the number of searches carried out has dropped dramatically.

A police and public review panel can tell officers to apologise for searches carried out inappropriately or send an officer for retraining if repeated mistakes are being made.

This is all good. Perhaps this is a model which could be extended to resolve disputes between the public and the police in a range of situations.

Northamptonshire gave the Taser to the world. It would be nice to contribute something to law and order that is lower voltage but maybe just as effective at keeping the peace.

Hartley hails a baby daughter

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER
nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

The World Cup dream may be all but over for Northampton Saints star Dylan Hartley, but the hooker had something more important to celebrate on Tuesday – the birth of his daughter.

The Saints star, axed from the England squad for headbutting another player at the end of last season's Premiership, posted a heart-warming image on Instagram and Twitter to reveal the good news.

Underneath a simple, yet touching message: '18.8.15 Proud Dad', is a black and white picture of his baby girl's hand wrapped around the tip of his finger.

NEW DAD: Dylan Hartley

Both he and his partner have since been inundated with messages of congratulations online, including one from the Saints club, which reads: "Congrats, Dyls!"

Premiership Rugby also tweeted the message: "Congratulations from everyone here!"

The new arrival into the Hartley family comes at a time when the hooker faces a tough month on the sidelines with a four-match ban.

The suspension, which runs from August 15 to September 21, was served for headbutting Saracens hooker Jamie George in the Saints' Aviva Premiership semi-final defeat in May.

This means he is missing out on preparations for the Rugby World Cup and the tournament itself, which begins with England's fixture against Fiji on September 18.

Dance stars live dream at Disneyland

A group of young dancers from a Northampton performing arts school achieved their dreams when they performed in the iconic pre-parade at Disneyland Paris.

Students from Stagecoach Northampton made their way to Paris to perform in front of their families and thousands of international visitors, as part of the Disney Performing Arts OnStage programme.

Principal of Stagecoach Northampton, Peter Hillier said: "The students worked hard towards this performance and I was so proud to see them all on stage." "For many of the students it was their first time performing in front of such a big audience."

Nick's lifetime up on the roof

Lawrence John goes up in the world to meet Nick Shiells, a third generation master thatcher

Nick Shiells is the third generation of his family to literally climb the career ladder in his chosen trade.

The master thatcher from Northamptonshire is following in the footsteps of his grandfather and father in carrying on this tradition.

The 46-year-old from Stanion entered the thatching trade when he was 16-years-old, straight from leaving school.

He started out at the bottom of the ladder as a general dogsbody but he was learning on the job. Now he has what you call 'the eye of a master craftsman'.

Nick recently finished a three week stint thatching the roof of a house in Weekley.

The craft stretches back centuries and is still done in virtually the same way, but unlike those before him, this master thatcher has a business card, mobile and email address.

The world we live in might have changed but the need to get your roof re-thatched is just a great today as it was in the 1800s or 1900s.

As for Nick his time in the world of thatched roofs began when he was a teenager.

He said: "When I began I was just a fetcher and carrier. I worked with my father during the school holidays so I was always learning."

"It is a job that does not finish at 4pm or 5pm."

"The people who live in the houses are just custodians and have to look after them and the roof."

"It is strange to think cottages/houses with thatched roofs are at the top of the housing market as when they were first built they were lived in by poor agricultural workers."

"A lot of them are now in villages which people commute from every day to work."

This hard work has paid off for Nick as he is a professional craftsman whose skills are in constant demand.

COUNTY THATCHER:
Nick Shiells

He said: "There is a complete sense of job satisfaction when people admire what I have done and some even take pictures of the thatched roof."

"I have always liked working outdoors. I could not work in an office looking at a computer all day it would drive me mad."

"How much better to work in a picturesque village like Weekley, it makes my job more pleasurable."

"It is not a seasonal profession. You can thatch in all weathers except when it is raining too hard."

"I have got to the point where I have a trained eye and can look at the roof to see immediately where there is a problem."

We have to put mesh over the thatch to keep the birds and vermin out of it."

And with that he was back to work clearing up the straw which had fallen before taking the scaffolding down and moving onto his next job.

Sekhemka given a 31-day lifeline

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER
nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

A temporary export ban on an ancient Egyptian statue sold by Northampton Borough Council for £15.76 million has been extended by an extra 31 days by the Government.

The 4,000-year-old Sekhemka was sold at auction to an anonymous overseas buyer by the council in July 2014, to fund an extension to Northampton Museum and Art Gallery.

But because the statue was so unique, the Government then decided to stop it leaving the country by placing a temporary export ban on it lasting until July 29, 2015.

As D-Day loomed, The Northants Herald and Post was then told by the Department for Culture, Media and Sport (DCMS), that the ban period would only be extended if 'serious intention' was made to buy the statue.

But despite this, the ban has now been extended to August 28, 2015, even though it is believed a buyer has not yet stepped forward.

A spokesperson for the DCMS has also said the ban could be extended further until next year, should any 'serious intention' be made.

In a statement, the DCMS said: "We have decided to allow a final opportunity for a buyer to put forward a serious expression of interest to raise funds to keep the Sekhemka statue in the UK. The deadline has been extended to midday 28 August.

"This period may be extended until 29 March 2016 if a serious intention to raise funds to purchase the statue is made."

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Trevor Skidmore feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service the Northampton, Kettering, Wellingborough & Corby areas and Trevor is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Trevor a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Aussies enjoy g'day in town

nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.

The Australian cricket team enjoyed 'escaping London' for the 'nice and quiet' areas of Northampton at the weekend.

The Test stars from down under visited the town last Thursday night and stayed at a hotel in Delapre for their three-day match tour versus Northants.

During their county tour, which ended in a draw against an impressive Northants side, the cricketers played a round of golf at Delapre Park, dined at restaurants in the town centre, and relaxed at their hotel.

Talking to the H&P, Australia's number one Test spinner, Nathan Lyon, said: "We have been lucky to be here.

"Some of us brought our families down here with us, so we have been doing a bit of daddy day care!

"We haven't been out of the hotel much, but we have been down the local parks and few of the boys hit up Nandos and Sophias and a couple of other restaurants.

"It looks like a great place and we have been able to have a bit of fun with our families."

As well as the cricketers, dozens of journalists also made the 10,000 mile trip from Australia to cover their nation's Ashes and county tour.

Among them is Adam Goldfinch, who is the camera man for Cricket Australia – formerly known as the Australian Cricket Board.

"It has been great here," he said. "It's a big old town and there is so much to see history wise. It is very different to what you see back home.

"All the buildings are very different and it is a nice market town.

"The people here are friendly, there are nice places to go and it is very easy to get around."

Shoppers treated to artists' trail

Paintings, graphic art, photography and digital film are on show for shoppers in Northampton town centre this month – all part of an Artists' Trail organised by the Northampton town centre Business Improvement District (BID).

Thirty local artists are displaying their work at 21 businesses in the town centre, and shoppers are being invited to follow an Artist's Trail map to navigate their way between cafes, boutiques, salons and shops.

The Trail, now in its third week, will continue until the end of August.

Neill Friedman owns Northampton Nutrition Centre in Gold Street Mews, one of the businesses taking part in

ART TRAIL: Neill Friedman and wife, Sheridan, with daughter Talia and son Ethan the Artists' Trail.

Neill's wife, Sheridan Whitehead Friedman, an artist, is also taking part in the trail and her work is on display in the Academy Coffee shop and Gold St Mews.

Neill said: "Feedback to the Artists' has been superb, with loyal customers enjoying the art while they shop and new people popping in to see us for the first time. Being part of this trail is fun, makes great business sense and it is a pleasure to bring art to a wider audience and to support the county's artists."

Jessica D'Auliero, Chair of Northampton BID, said: "There is a phenomenal amount of art and beauty in Northampton that is undiscovered, much of it represented by local artists and photographers, so we are delighted to be organising this exciting Artists' Trail.

Visitors can download the Artists' Trail map at www.northamptonbid.co.uk or can pick one up at the Tourist Information Centre or one of the participating businesses.

Advice is on hand for GCSE students

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER
nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

Thousands of students across Northamptonshire are discovering what their GCSE results are today.

With all the students facing up to some of the biggest questions of their life – such as whether to continue studying for A Levels, taking on an apprenticeship or learning a new skill to prepare them for the world of work – Northampton College is urging them to remember 'whatever the result, there are plenty of options still available to you'.

The college will be offering a series of drop-in sessions at its Booth Lane and Lower Mounts sites, to give people the chance to discuss their options and find out more about courses which may be suitable for them.

Assistant Principal James Whybrow said: "Results day is always a stressful time for anyone taking exams, but the most important thing to remember is that whatever the result, there are plenty of options still available to you."

"We know just how confusing making big decisions about your future can be, but our team is on hand to help. These sessions will help students decide whether to stay on at school to do A Levels or a more specialised study programme at college. There's also a range of apprenticeship programmes available, giving people the chance to

Rockabilly

Monique Mills, PR and marketing manager at Kelmars Hall and Gardens must have a DVD of rockabilly music by Darrel Higham & The Enforcers.

It is a must have as her one-year-old son is addicted to watching it! "He's not at all interested in children's TV but he loves this DVD and starts dancing as soon as the warning about copyright comes on at the start! It's my Must Have item because if I want five minutes to sit and have a cuppa, this works a treat! My husband, who loves rockabilly music, is a happy man."

BLOGGER OF THE WEEK: No to any Corbynmania

Cllr Danielle Stone

Here is Cllr Danielle Stone's latest blog. She is the leader of the Labour group on Northampton Borough Council. She writes a weekly blog for the Northants Herald & Post.

I have just been asked my views on Jeremy Corbyn.

This is my reply. I have a political perspective that sees life in colour and in all its variety and diversity.

I refuse to accept that life is black and white.

I reject binary oppositions because that leads to a lack of creativity and a one size fits all response.

It leaves more people outside the circle than in it.

I want to live in an expanding universe where we learn from each other, where we make alliances if we can agree, and where we accept that a diversity of experience leads to a diversity of views.

I understand that in a globalised world people want certainty.

But the only real certainty is change itself.

We need to build a society that is equal, that it is inclusive, and that is many coloured.

As a part of that we need a world where it is recognised that people are experts in their own condition.

We live in an era where there may be more than one answer to any question.

We are witnessing in our time resurgence in slavery, in human trafficking and the commercial exploitation of children.

We need to understand it is not just rapacious capitalism that produces this.

It is also the power structures of patriarchy. We need values and ethics as central parts of our economic base.

And we need the world to be more woman-shaped.

I think one of our tasks is to build resilience and the optimism that we collectively can be the architects of ethical change.

For me politics is something built on movements for social change, that is built on pluralism and diversity, that understands alliances are very exciting.

I don't want the magic, the colour, the excitement, of my politics sucked out by reducing it to one thing.

A Corbyn thing. That's why I am voting for Yvette Cooper as leader and Stella Creasy for deputy.

I don't want the magic of politics sucked out by reducing it to a Corbyn thing

Two-bag rule makes me regret moving from MK

I'm writing in response to your article in The Herald & Post last week.

Any other consideration aside, it seems unfair that people with a wheelie bin can fill this up with several green bags, but our poor folk who aren't given one can only leave out two bags per week!

It's obvious from the recycling boxes put onto the pavements for collection that the vast majority of people are happy to recycle items where possible, but household and food products are so over-packaged with non-recyclable materials that it's very easy for a family of four to quickly fill their allocated two bags of domestic rubbish.

I've recently moved to Northampton and, because of the Borough Council's irresponsible and shameful approach to rubbish collection, am beginning to seriously regret that decision! My road had its rubbish collection today. Our houses have no front garden and we have to leave out all our recycling boxes and our domestic plastic bags on the pavement. Returning home tonight I, as usual, was greeted by a multitude of plastic containers and paper littering the pavement, they having either blown from their open boxes (no lids supplied) or been dropped and left by the rubbish collectors. This litter is occasionally collected over the course of the next few days, but in the meantime we have to walk through ankle-deep, sometimes smelly litter... I have never lived anywhere so dirty, unpleasant, unsightly and potentially hazardous. It creates an accurate impression that Northampton is a dirty, unkempt town with an uncared for environment.

This also encourages fly tipping (I've seen many an item of furniture dumped on the pavement locally in the four months I've lived here) and a general feeling that this is a depressed and deprived town, with an uncaring, ineffective Council!

Additionally, because of the current policy, a number of houses in my road who've run out of green bags, have had the black bags they've used instead left uncollected outside their front doors and today I've seen green bags some people have bought to use left on the pavement, presumably because they're 'non regulation'! This is crass, unbelievable behaviour by the Council/rubbish collectors and is a most serious health hazard

I moved to Northampton from Milton Keynes where ALL rubbish and recycling is placed in supplied domestic and recycling plastic bags which contain their contents in all weathers and which the collectors simply load onto their carts with no risk of spillage.

Incidentally, if you run out of plastic bags in MK you can get some more at any time from the libraries. The result is a clean and pleasant environment that the residents take a pride in.

The Council should listen to the numerous and loud voices raised against their rubbish collection practices, remembering at all times that we've paid for this service through our Council Taxes!

They need to provide better systems with immediate effect and immeasurably improve their monitoring and management of the company employed to carry out their currently half-hearted and hazardous waste disposal policies!

R. Axford

Train graffiti vandals cuffed

CRIMINAL ACT: One of the trains defaced by graffiti vandals

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER

nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

Seven men accused of vandalising 22 London Midland trains and causing over £6,000 worth of damage have been arrested.

The seven individuals, who are now due to appear in court, are suspected of committing over 140 offences on trains in both the UK and Europe.

Their recognisable graffiti 'tagging' caused damage to the exterior of London Midland trains stabled at Coventry, Northampton, Bletchley, Soho and Tyseley. In many cases, the whole of the train was covered in multi-coloured spray paint.

Neil Bamford, London Midland's Asset Maintenance director, said: "It is great news that British Transport Police have made these arrests.

"The time and money that goes into cleaning the units after this kind of damage is huge and places additional pressure on our depot based colleagues who work really hard to keep our trains looking clean and tidy."

Mr Bamford added: "In a number of instances, the level of damage caused was so severe that we had to take trains out of service so they could undergo intensive cleaning."

CAKE EXPECTATIONS: Judge Dawn Knott samples one of the cakes

It is getting hot in the kitchen

Some of the county's finest cafés battled it out in the hope of being named Independent Café/Tea Room of the Year in this year's Carlsberg UK Northamptonshire Food and Drink Awards.

The competition, devised by Northamptonshire Enterprise Partnership, brought the six finalists together to compete at a bake-off at Northampton College. They were: Beckworth Emporium, Mears Ashby; Dreams Coffee Lounge,

Northampton; Evergreen Art Café, Daventry; The Apothecoffee Shop, Earls Barton; The Forest Café, Hartwell and The Park Café, Abington Park, Northampton

The remaining six will now have to wait until Thursday, October 15, to discover their fate, when the winners and runners-up in all 18 categories of the competition will be announced at the awards dinner taking place at Royal & Derngate in Northampton.

Chief backs stop policy

BY LAWRENCE JOHN
lawrence.john@hpnorthants.co.uk

Removing the powers of stop and search from police officers should not be seen as punitive and definitely not done on a whim – this is the belief of the Chief Constable of Northamptonshire, Simon Edens.

The new chief agrees with the policy of three strikes and an officer has these powers taken away from them until they improve.

Ch Insp Simon Edens, pictured, said: "It is really important to have the public's support for these powers."

"It is about people's right to live a free from the state and about liberty and the wider community. It is about getting that balance right be it locally or nationally."

"Being stopped and searched is an invasion of privacy and a threat to dignity especially if it is not treated with sensitivity."

"If we do not get it right it can lead to a decay of that consent."

"My officers come under the direct control of me and the force and having powers taken away from them should not be seen as punitive and definitely not done on a whim.

"If an officer does get it wrong three times then there needs to be a pause and assistance and help offered."

"We are trying something new and those officers who get it wrong will receive one-to-one coaching. I fully support the community panel and we can never be complacent."

Speaking at the launch of Northamptonshire Police and Crime Commission's (OPCC) report into stop and search, PCC Adam Simmonds said "This is a brave and courageous step."

"A police officer's powers will be suspended if they get it wrong for a third time. I think the apology should only come when something is done wrong and saying sorry to the victim is part of that

Green's the new red for rejuvenated Tony

BY LAWRENCE JOHN
lawrence.john@hpnorthants.co.uk

Former Northampton MP Tony Clarke has in a political sense been reborn as he has gone Green and feels as a result it has brought a new refreshing vitality to his life. He has embraced the Green Party philosophy to the degree where he not only talks the talk, he walks the walk as he lives the green lifestyle which has helped reduced his weight from 23 stone two and a half years ago to 15 stone today. The 52-year-old feels reinvigorated by life in the Green Party and being its National spokesperson on foreign affairs. He said: "Being green has changed my moral view of what I should be buying and what I am consuming. "As a country we consume three times the amount we produce and this has got to change. "We cannot carry on in this way and each of us has to relate to the planet in a different way. We have to consume less and we need to be thinking localisation not globalisation. "It is all about thinking about the way we interact with the environment as every decision which we take carries with it a moral decision. "I will not buy coffee from a multi-national cafe, I go to a local cafe which pays its taxes and its staff a decent wage. "You have to break the habit which means you have to think about it at first but then you get used to it. "I do not buy any fast food or processed food and stay away from all the sugar and fats which companies put into their products. "I am 52 years old and I commute around town by cycling as it is the best form of transport. "We are all bit by bit getting involved in the green economy where we are thinking more about what we spend, what we buy and thinking about the value of family to us." Tony has had a political career which has been full of ups and downs. From 1991-1999 he was a Labour councillor on Northampton Borough Council and became a Labour MP for Northampton North from 1997-2005. In 2007 he parted company with the local Labour party to go it alone as an independent in the General Election. He was elected as an independent councillor on the borough council from 2007-2011 and as an independent on the county council from 2009-2013. In May, he stood in the General Election as a Green Candidate for the Northampton North seat but he lost. He said: "My views have never changed and it has often been said I did not leave the Labour party it left me.

LABOUR LEAVER: Tony Clarke has found his natural home with the Green Party

"I have always been a grassroots politician and came into politics to change society. I feel the Green Party is the purest form of politics, like it used to be."

"The Green Party allows its membership to make decision and does not rely on a leadership."

While he was a member of Northampton Borough Council (1991-99 Labour), he helped set up the borough's recycling policy in 1996.

Residents whom the H&P have spoken to and have written to us are unhappy with the service they are being provided.

What does one of the founders of the scheme think it is like today?

Mr Clarke said: "The system is archaic."

"The council should be encouraging more people to recycle. not they should not be using this carrot and stick approach.

"It should be encourage, assist and educate and not punish people."

"There needs to be a free collection of large household waste a charging for the service has only lead to an increase in flytipping."

"This has been added to by the county council reducing the opening hours of the tips."

FEEL GOOD FACTOR

Good living, getting out there and getting on with it in Northants

Good Guy swims the channel

Guy Batchelor, a Master's graduate from Northampton Business School has swum across the English Channel for charity.

He undertook the challenge to raise money for The Clock Tower Fund and Birmingham Children's Hospital.

Prior to studying at the University of Northampton, Guy, who graduated from the MBA programme with a distinction in 2014, had a 26-year career in the British Army serving all over the world and operating in high-pressure environments and extreme locations. This stood him in good stead for the English Channel swim – 15 hours in water of between 16-18 degrees.

Funds handed out

The Mick George Community Fund has awarded grants to nine local projects at a value of £228,000.

The grants include a range of initiatives and include association with sports clubs, village halls, parish councils, conservation charities, youth centres and hospices ranging across numerous counties.

Successful bids include: Serve – the funding will be used to create a new tea room at the group's Wellbeing and Activities Centre in Rushden which the Centre's users have highlighted as a priority need.

The Castle (Wellingborough) – funding for its Changing Places project which will enable The Castle to provide better facilities for people with disabilities, children and family users.

Cobblers' charity partners

Northampton Town Football Club's Charitable Foundation has appointed its official charity partners for the 2015/2016 season.

The charities are; Prostate Cancer UK, Beating Bowel Cancer, Coppa Feel, Kidney Patients Association, Northampton Hope Centre,

Facial Palsy UK, Northamptonshire Association for the Blind and Swain Benevolent Fund

The Foundation brings together the club's extensive charity work and sees the club work with a selected number of charity partners on a season by season basis.

And sometimes rest is the best

H&P Editor Steve Scoles on his quest for fitness and health helped by Trilogy Gym

Trainer Martin's back is still bad and his doctor has told him to rest up.

People who attend his class at Mounts Gym have been asking after him.

He's a popular figure and his Monday night sessions are being missed while he takes an enforced break to recover.

I'm glad he's off his feet for a while. After a year of him coaching me to a new level of fitness I've got to know him a bit.

Back in the day he was a kickboxer and then a mixed martial arts coach.

He is not scared of training through pain and while an unexpected twinge might stop me in my tracks I'm pretty sure Martin would just conquer it.

I'm reassured, therefore, that he is taking the medic's advice and not just 'manning it out'.

Blokes are notorious for not taking ourselves to the doctor promptly and it's easy to blame it on standard male pattern laziness.

But there is a side to masculinity that likes to struggle through despite our injuries.

Clearly we're not all ex-fighters like Martin (who presents as a softly spoken and quietly religious man now) but this aspect of maleness crops up in all types.

Going right back to early days in the playground, playing cowboys and indians, everyone wanted to get shot so we could act out horrific injuries but still courageously manage to throw one last historically inaccurate imaginary grenade.

What does that infant heroism become in later life? Man flu. Trade the imaginary bullets for sniffles and the playground hand grenades for hankies and the script can probably stay the same.

"I'm not going to make it. You go ahead without me. Aaaah (tishoo). Uuuurgh. Gross."

It's not the being ill we are emphasising: it is the drama of surviving it by the skin of our teeth. And the truth is, when you train your body – especially to the degree that Martin has in his life – your attitude to pain changes. Things still hurt but you get less panicky about it.

We're all missing him – I even texted him the number of crunches I did the other night which I'm slightly embarrassed to admit – but at least he's doing the sensible thing and resting up despite what his instincts are probably telling him.

Get well soon Martin!

NEWS IN BRIEF

Ride breaks down

Thrill-seekers on Wicksteed Park's Pinfari rollercoaster were left stranded yesterday afternoon when the ride came to a sudden halt at the top of the drop hill. A safety alarm had sounded, but engineers found no problems. The ride restarted 10 minutes later.

Splash of colour

Volunteers have brightened up a Daventry underpass with colourful murals as part of a community street art project. Over 30 volunteers, including staff at the Phoenix Youth Centre, gave up their time to decorate the Yeomanry Way underpass on Grange Estate.

Emergency in shower cubicle

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER

nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

An elderly woman made a frantic 999 call to the fire service during the early hours of one morning this week after seeing what she believed to be 'flames' in her shower.

But when firefighters arrived at her home in Wilby, near Wellingborough, shortly before 1am, they discovered it was in fact a flashing orange fault light.

The fire crew discovered the woman has poor eyesight, which caused her to mistake the flashing light for flames.

The confused woman's 999 call is nothing compared with the most bizarre emergencies call made in the county, though.

In the last year alone, calls to Northants Police have included a man claiming that his bananas had spiders eggs on them, a woman who suspected that wine gums on the floor outside her house may be poisoned, and a person who had not been paid their benefits.

Other more obscure calls included a patient reporting that their dentist had assaulted them by giving them a filling, and a resident who was not happy after spotting a toad in their garden.

For the Northants Fire and Rescue Service itself, calls in the past have included seven people being trapped in a bath, three being wedged in railings, one stuck in a stairlift and three pensioners caught in their mobility scooters.

The service's crews have also had to cut off wedding rings from fingers, and remove objects from people including handcuffs and toilets.

Fake officers rob man

A 20-year-old man was robbed by two men who claimed to be police officers while he was trying to climb through a window of his own home in Northampton.

The man was trying to get back into his house between 10.15pm and 11pm on Friday, August 14, after forgetting his keys when he was approached by two men.

They claimed to be police officers and asked him questions about whether the house was his.

They then searched him and took his wallet before pushing him to the ground and kicking him.

The offenders then made off from the incident, which took place in Johnson Court, Cotton End.

Police are appealing for witnesses.

SOLID FOUNDATIONS: Dignitaries attended the foundation stone laying ceremony at the new county council headquarters in Northampton, including County Council leader Cllr Jim Harker, second from right

£53m HQ going up

The foundation stone for Northamptonshire County Council's new headquarters has been put in place, signalling a landmark in the build of the £53 million complex.

The first phase of the works on the authority's former staff car park in Northampton's Angel Street has seen the preparation of the site for construction, including the demolition of several small buildings.

Over the next few weeks the frame of the building will start to rise up from the site, before the external facade is put in place over the coming months.

Talking at the foundation stone ceremony, which took place on Tuesday, the leader of Northants County Council, Cllr Jim Harker, said: "I am very pleased with how it is all going. I am looking forward to the benefit of it bringing in 2,000 workers into the town, who will be bringing extra custom in Northampton."

What Your Agent Has To Say

Online or on High Street?

We are so used to doing everything on line, that the advent of internet-only estate agents seems a natural progression. But is it?

Winkworth

The attraction is cheap fees. But – what do you actually get?

Payment is up front, after which the agent will probably advertise your home on various portals.

Of course, having been paid, it's then academic whether they introduce a buyer or not, as they have your money – banked!

Not happy with the service? Want to speak with someone in person? Not possible, as they operate via the 'cloud', and don't have a high street presence.

You will also be doing your own viewings, negotiations, progress chasing, problem solving etc. etc.

At Winkworth we believe in personal customer service.

It may be traditional, but it works.

We specialise in individual quality family homes, and we get to know our clients, their objectives, and then work hard to achieve them.

If you are thinking of selling or renting, or maybe you're already on the market but not totally happy with the service, then give us a call.

Many of our marketing initiatives are truly unique and you may well be pleasantly surprised by a different way of doing things – personally!

Home is where the heart is

At Millers our heart is in Northamptonshire, selling homes since 1989

Customer Reviews

"As far as we are concerned Millers dealt with the sale of the property in a most professional way."

"You went over and above our expectations in ensuring everything was in place and we moved on the date we aimed for. Your professionalism and manner were second to none, and we would have no hesitation in recommending your services to others going on the property ladder."

"Thank you Matthew. You have been brilliant, I would highly recommend you to friends or family wanting to sell or looking to buy a home."

"We recently completed the purchase of our property through Millers Estate Agents. It was a very positive experience from start to finish and our expectations were managed perfectly. Carl Myers was very professional and we particularly appreciated his frequent updates on the progress of the sale. Nothing was too much trouble. The whole process was a very refreshing and stress free experience. We would not hesitate to use Millers again when looking for a property or selling."

"Despite not being a great lover of estate agents Millers were a pleasure to work with and would definitely use them in the future."

LIGHTS, ACTION: The Forest Dwellers is in contention in the Under 16s category of the Film Northants short film competition

Contenders face vote for festival's top film

BY LAWRENCE JOHN

lawrence.john@hpnorthants.co.uk

The judges have announced the shortlist of 12 finalists for the annual Film Northants short film competition.

The films will be screened as part of the eighth Film Northants Festival being held at Errol Flynn Filmhouse across the weekend of October 10 and 11.

The competition includes an Under 16s and Over 16s category, with online audiences deciding who wins the coveted Over 16s public vote prize via the Film Northants website.

Judge Becky Adams said: "The judging was really hard. But then, it's always hard every year because of the diverse range of films. Trying to decide which of the movies should come out on top and what criteria we should judge against is really difficult."

"We have got films that show different bits of Northamptonshire alongside films that are completely different to being a resident here. It's just great."

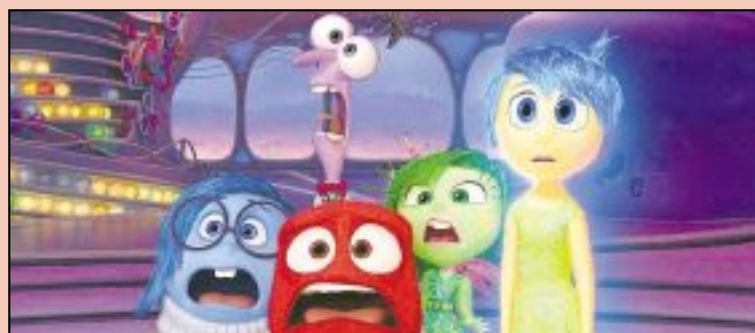

Lily Canter, Festival Chair added: "It is now up to the public to decide who should be crowned the 2015 Film Northants Over 16s winner."

You can watch all of the shortlisted films on our website and then vote for your favourite made in Northants film online. It is going to be a really tight contest this year.

To vote, visit filmnorthants.co.uk. Voting closes on September 4 at midnight.

Tickets are on sale for the awards screenings plus a series of other film events and showings.

To view the full festival programme and book your tickets visit: <http://www.errol-flynnfilmhouse.com/> Tickets can also be booked by calling Box Office 01604 624811.

American Pickers

American Pickers should come with the headline 'It's not the Antique Roadshow - so be thankful!

It is the complete antithesis to the sterile world of Antiques Roadshow where people just go to show off their antiques and be 'surprised' it costs so much. Ha, ha.

In American Pickers we get down and dirty with childhood friends Mike Wolfe and Frank Fritz.

They go around the USA calling at various locations 'picking antiques' from houses, farms, barns and people's collection of junk and collectables.

It is a reality TV show produced by A&E Television Networks and shown in the UK on History.

Some of it is clearly set up but you gotta roll with the punches and go with the flow.

It is all part of the packaging and once you get over it, there is a little treasure of a show beneath.

You learn a little, you learn a lot but it is never dull. So turn on and tune in and lets go picking with Mike and Frank on Mondays at 10pm.

Subaru's spiritual successor is more spacious than ever

The all-new Subaru Levorg will go on sale in the UK at the end of next month priced at £27,495 (on-the-road), Subaru has announced today.

The new sport tourer model, which made its European debut at the 2015 Geneva Motor Show, has previously launched in Japan, Subaru's domestic market, where it has proved popular with existing customers and created many new converts to the brand.

A spiritual successor to the much loved fourth-generation Subaru Legacy Tourer (2003-2008), the Levorg promises a compact on-road footprint yet greater interior space than its forebear. The car will be available in a single trim level called GT, with generous levels of standard equipment, including Subaru's iconic All-Wheel Drive (AWD) drivetrain.

Subaru engineers and designers promise that the Levorg will offer one of the company's most refined cabins, created with a greater use of high quality materials.

SUBARU IMPRESSIVE: The new Levorg will go on sale in September

Leather-trimmed sports seats with unique to Levorg blue stitching will come as standard, as will Subaru's new factory-fit 7.0-inch touchscreen infotainment, connectivity and navigation system.

Leather trim is used generously within the cabin, including the door trims, on the centre console and on top of the multi-function display on the dashboard.

When it goes on sale in the UK, the Levorg will be available with one engine: a newly-developed 1.6-litre DIT (Direct Injection Turbo) Boxer petrol engine, a signature format for the Japanese manufacturer.

The new Levorg will continue to uphold Subaru's reputation as a manufacturer of some of the safest cars on the road, with a strong, light bodysheet and a wide range of passive and active safety technologies.

The Levorg is equipped as standard with the new 'Subaru Rear Vehicle Detection' system (SRVD), which alerts drivers to vehicles which are crossing behind. A comprehensive safety package, SRVD combines three technologies: Blind Spot Detection, which alerts drivers to cars sitting in their blind spot; Lane Change Assist, which warns drivers of fast-approaching vehicles behind when the driver indicates to change lane; and Rear Cross Traffic Alert, which detects vehicles passing behind when reversing out of a parking space.

Audi TT Roadster

Take a look inside...

The third-generation Audi TT Roadster plays it safe on the styling front but packs in some interesting equipment, is built from all the right stuff, undercuts its German rivals on price and gets some great efficiency numbers. Buyers get the options of diesel or petrol, front or quattro all-wheel drive, with a 310PS TT S model incoming too.

The engines and transmissions on offer mirror those of the coupe model, which means you can expect an entry-level 184PS two-litre diesel which drives the front wheels and will get it to 62mph in 7.2 seconds. Look beyond the black pump things get a bit more serious. The 2.0 TFSI petrol unit gets the same 230PS as the more powerful versions of the Golf GTI, but here you get a choice of front or quattro all-wheel drive.

Both will hit a top speed of 155mph, with the manual front-wheel drive car getting to 62mph in 6.0 seconds and the S tronic twin-clutch quattro model taking a mere 5.3s.

The top of the range is marked by the 310PS Audi TTS Roadster. It covers the standard sprint in 4.7 seconds and its top speed is electronically governed at 155mph.

The TT Roadster features an electrically actuated fabric top. This roof features excellent acoustic and thermal insulation, with particular attention paid to the frequencies generated by the passing airflow. A thick fleece layer on the black inner headlining helps reduce the noise level in the interior by up to 6 dB compared with the previous TT Roadster.

The TT Roadster is an extremely smart car and deserves to do very well. We can't help but think that Audi could have been a little more expressive with the car's styling, given that this was once one of the most extreme-looking cars sensible money could buy, but hey, we all grow old and ditch the fashion duds for sensible slacks at some point.

What's encouraging about this car is that it includes so much into a package that doesn't compromise on the ideals of its predecessors. It's light but feels built from granite, it's quick but returns the fuel figures of a supermini and, should you need it, there's always the reassurance of Audi's quattro transmission to offer a welcome safety net.

- £31,270 - £37,595
- Emissions: 114-154g/km
- 0-62mph 5.5s
- Max speed 155mph
- (combined) 64 mpg

Feel The Fury! Isuzu New Addition To D-MAX Range

Isuzu UK is storming into the second half of 2015 with the addition of the D-Max Fury, an exclusive-to-the-UK model that boosts the D-Max pick-up range to 10 variants. The new Fury packs a real punch with a number of unique style enhancements and technology upgrades. Based on the Eiger double-cab model, the special edition can be tamed from just £19,999 (CVOTR), representing a saving of around £2000 compared to buying the accessories separately. Fury is available with either manual or auto transmission.

Improvements To Vauxhall's Van Range

Vauxhall has updated its range of award-winning light commercial vehicles, which will see model year 2016 CV passenger carriers receive a variety of new features. The British-built Vivaro and Movano vans will now have Euro 6-compliant diesel engines, additional assistance systems to improve safety even further and extra optional fittings. Available to order now, the Luton-built Vivaro Combi introduces new turbo-diesel powertrains to model year 2016 iterations. Priced at £27,094 on-the-road, the entry-level 1.6 CDTi (95PS) engine with torque of 260Nm, has a combined consumption of 44.8mpg and emissions of 164g/km CO₂. The new 1.6 BiTurbo CDTi (125PS), which is priced at £28,060 on-the-road, produces torque of 320Nm, providing enough power for demanding tasks. Fuel consumption on a combined cycle is 49.6mpg while it delivers emissions of 149g/km CO₂. Both engines come with Start/Stop and manual six-speed gearbox and thanks to Vauxhall's BlueInjection SCR system, they all comply with the Euro 6 emission standard.

New Diesel Engine For Jeep Cherokee

Changes to the popular Cherokee range have just been announced by Jeep, with details of a powerful new engine, offering an augmented range with better fuel economy, greater torque and improved standard content. The current two-litre diesel 140 hp manual versions have been joined by a modern 2.2-litre MultiJet II engine, available with 185 hp and 200 hp outputs, and offering a significantly wider spread of torque from low rpm, greater power, improved performance and better fuel economy than the out-going two-litre 170 hp automatic engine. The new 2.2 engine is already Euro 6 compliant. Available only with Jeep's segment-first nine-speed automatic gearbox, and matched to the Active-Drive four-wheel-drive systems, all new Cherokee 2.2 versions are packed with equipment. The new 2.2 MultiJet II engine, which places Jeep Cherokee towards the top of its class for performance, refinement and true efficiency, can now be ordered in the UK. Two power variants are available: 200 hp and 185 hp.

New Honda HR-V Lands In The UK

Honda's much anticipated successor to the original crossover, the HR-V, has landed in the UK, with the first shipment having arrived into the Bristol docks. Due into dealerships at the end of the month, the new HR-V has already generated almost 350 orders without customers having driven, let alone even seen the car in the metal. With pricing starting at £17,995 or from just £149 a month on PCP with a 30% deposit for the entry-level S grade petrol model, the new HR-V tops out at £24,945 for the flagship EX diesel. The new HR-V is available at launch with a choice of highly responsive and efficient 120 PS 1.6 litre i-DTEC diesel or 130 PS 1.5 litre i-VTEC petrol engines, both part of Honda's Earth Dreams Technology series.

Toyota Mirai Arrives In The UK

Toyota's first shipment of fuel cell vehicles have landed at Portbury, near Bristol. Toyota has taken another step towards a hydrogen-powered future with the arrival of the first Mirai fuel cell vehicles at its import centre at Portbury. The cars, landed on Saturday, are part of the first consignment to reach Europe, ahead of Mirai's official launch in September. As part of Toyota's global introduction of the world's first mass-produced fuel cell saloon, the four-door Mirai is being offered in selected European markets - the UK, Germany and Denmark - where a hydrogen fuel supply and retail infrastructure is being developed. The limited number available in Britain this year have already been snapped up, principally by business and corporate customers keen to be among the first to explore the potential of Toyota's advanced fuel cell technology and its promise of zero harmful tailpipe emissions.

Nissan's New Player Coming Soon

Drawing on its 80 year heritage of designing and manufacturing robust, cleverly engineered Light Commercial Vehicles, Nissan continues to raise the bar with the introduction of the all-new NP300 Navara. The pick-up is the latest in a long line of talent to join the squad at Nissan, official partners of the UEFA Champions League. Engineered to be tough and practical enough to meet the goals of any business, the new NP300 Navara also features talents from Nissan's innovative crossover ranges. Striking design, refinement, innovative technologies and car-like efficiency mean the NP300 Navara will set a new benchmark in the one ton pick-up market. The Nissan NP300 Navara will make its European debut at the Frankfurt Motor Show in September

MISSING CAT

Jim has been missing from Swinford Hollow, Little Billing
since Thursday 9th July.

He is a pure black, neutered male and is microchipped.

He was wearing a collar and name tag with our telephone numbers on the back.

He is a much loved member of our family and we miss him very much.

He is a big, friendly boy and gets on with other cats and doesn't mind dogs.

Please, please keep and eye out for him.

He has his own Facebook page:

INCREDIBLE KNOCK:
Steven Crook

'See ball, hit ball' – Crook chuffed with Australia ton

BY MATT WRIGHT
sport@nsnmedia.co.uk

Northamptonshire's Steven Crook admitted he didn't put that much thought into his amazing century against the country of his birth on the second day of their drawn match against the touring Australians.

Crook, born in Adelaide to English parents, played the innings of his life as he smashed a scarcely believable 142 not out off just 96 balls with his explosive knock including 24 fours and four sixes.

It was after tea in particular where he put the tourists to the sword as 123 of his runs came in the evening off 76 deliveries.

As a result, he soared past his previous best score of 131, which he made against his former county Middlesex at Lord's last year.

Crook said: "It was just a case of 'swing hard and see what happens' and sometimes those days happen where you connect and it's going through gaps.

"It's obviously nice to get a hundred against a good attack and I'm pleased that we've put a good score on the board.

"I seem to do well against old teams and now against old countries as well but 'see ball, hit ball' is pretty much my motto.

"It's always good to get runs anyway but against Australia is quality, I really enjoyed it."

Any chance of a result against Australia, who have already lost the Ashes to England ahead of the final test which begins at The Oval today, was removed by rain which washed out the scheduled first day of play on Friday.

In Northants' total of 396 there were also handy contributions with the bat of 86 by Kyle Coetzer and 50 from Ben Duckett while Crook was to also star with the ball as he took 3-38.

His efforts helped reduce Australia to 180-8 in the afternoon of the final day on Sunday and only an unbeaten 82 by Pat Cummins steered the tourists away from what would have been an embarrassing follow-on.

Head coach David Ripley was pleased with his side's efforts against the tourists.

"We look forward to tourist games as they give a bit of light relief and a chance for people to grab some limelight and some lads certainly did that," he said.

"Australia came, I'm sure, to prepare well for the final Ashes test and sticking us into bat was a strong sign of how serious they were.

"They wanted to make use of the bowling conditions and we didn't let them do that and we've ended up having a really good couple of days.

"Obviously Steven Crook is a very fine striker of the ball – he played beautifully until getting to 80 or 90, where he was running out of partners and he was forced to gamble a bit more.

"But it was impressive striking and he's one that took something out of this fixture."

It was a match that gave a few fringe players the chance to impress and Maurice Chambers was to take his opportunity by claiming the scalps of David Warner and Australia captain Steve Smith.

Ben Sanderson also impressed with the ball while seamer Richard Gleeson and Scotland international George Munsey both caught the eye on when making their first class debuts.

Ripley, who admitted to having never seen Gleeson bowl before, said: "Richard has played a couple of games for the second team, where he's taken some wickets.

"That was the first time I've seen him but I thought he bowled really well while Ben Sanderson has been good in the couple of County Championship games he's played already.

"He's not a professional as such and he was something a bit outside the box that we've managed to get but it's nice when those things work out.

"He looks every bit a first-class bowler and he gave them nothing to hit at all while George Munsey played very nicely so there's lots to be pleased about."

Ripley's frustration as wash-out brings end to Royal London One Day Cup ambitions

FRUSTRATION: David Ripley

Northants were cruelly knocked out of the Royal London One Day Cup after rain prevented any play in their final group match at Yorkshire on Tuesday.

David Ripley's men needed to win at Headingley to guarantee a spot in the quarter finals but the point they received for the abandonment was not enough.

They have instead been marooned outside of the all important top four in fifth, behind Durham on net run rate.

The wash-out was good enough for Yorkshire, who have gone through from Group A in third, with Northants left to reflect on an opening two defeats in the 50 over competition which ultimately cost them.

The Steelbacks had won three Royal London games in a row before Tuesday's deluge but it didn't prove to be enough.

Ripley said: "The weather was very disappointing for us.

"We had set-up a knockout game and we would have gone into the match having won our last three fixtures in the competition which suggests that we are playing good cricket at the right time.

"The forecast was pretty grim from the start of the day and it proved to be right but if you are outside the top four this is what can happen although going out without playing still feels tough.

"At least we have got the NatWest T20 Finals Day to look forward to.

"We may go into them as underdogs again but we don't mind the tag, just as we didn't two years ago."

Northamptonshire return to red ball cricket tomorrow when they welcome Leicestershire to Wantage Road for a four day clash in Division Two of the County Championship.

As things stand Ripley's men are fifth in the standings after 12 matches, level on points with fourth placed Gloucestershire.

Olver to lead Saints in season opening sevens

SAINTS

BY DAN PALMER
sport@slnmedia.co.uk

Saints have named their side for Friday night's Singha Premiership Rugby 7s at the Ricoh Arena in Coventry.

Sam Olver will captain Northampton in the competition which is traditionally used to blood up and coming youngsters in a competitive environment.

Academy coach Mark Hopley is set to lead the troops with matches due against Harlequins, Saracens and hosts Wasps.

He said: "We're really looking forward to it. The lads have put in a lot of hard work over the summer and are now eager to get out on the pitch for the first time this season."

"The Premiership Rugby 7s has proved a fantastic experience for some of our promising young players in the past and we're sure it will be the same again on Friday."

Meanwhile, Saints pair Luther Burrell and Courtney Lawes will start for England in their World Cup warm-up fixture with France in Paris on Saturday.

Both Tom Wood and Calum Clark played the full 80 minutes of the 19-14 win at Twickenham on Saturday night, but with head coach Stuart Lancaster keen to run the rule over all of his squad options, only Johnny May remains in the XV that played the French first time around.

Lancaster still has to narrow his squad down before the World Cup begins in England next month.

Premiership Rugby 7s team: Alex Moon, Matthew Watson, Jake Carter, Tim Cardall, Alex Rayment, Tom Emery, Will Allman, Oliver Burgess, Alex Mitchell, Sam Olver (capt), Rory Hutchinson, James Grayson.

SKIPPER: Sam Olver

Defending champions reach final yet again

TRY TIME: Demons' Paul Stewart

Northampton Demons have made it through to their third grand final in four years in the Midlands Premier League.

Last year's champions will travel to Mansfield on Saturday to face Leamington Royals after a 46-18 win over Telford Raiders at Duston.

Tries from Luke Jones, Mitch Stephenson and a double from Paul Stewart gave Demons a 20-8 half-time lead and Stephenson then added his second after the break when a Raiders man had been yellow-carded.

In the aftermath of that try, Demons half back Ben Hanger was sent off for swearing at a Telford player but four further tries followed courtesy of Tom Bailey, Henry Spears, Matt Lyle and skipper Dave Marks to complete Northampton's win.

Comment: Bees defeat a wake up call for Town

COBBLERS

BY TOM REED
sport@slnmedia.co.uk

Columnist Tom Reed reflects on Northampton's 2-0 defeat to Barnet at The Hive on Tuesday evening.

Ten man Northampton's 100 per cent record came to a sticky end at the Hive after a John Akinde brace secured a 2-0 win for Barnet on Tuesday night.

Cobblers had won every match of their three to date but found themselves spread too thin with a weakened side against Martin Allen's Bees.

Northampton have a dire record versus Barnet and Chris Wilder's decision to make four changes to the team that beat Exeter City on Saturday was met with raised eyebrows in the away stand in Edgware.

Worse was to come with midfield lynchpin Jason Taylor's 62nd minute dismissal for bringing down man-mountain Akinde for a penalty.

Cobblers had tried to sign Akinde when he was at Ebbsfleet and the towering striker showed Town what they are missing by slotting home the spot kick.

The game had been fairly even to that point with shoulder-to-shoulder combativeness and pinball midfield tussles being the order of the day. Lawson D'Ath was a late change for Ricky Holmes who injured his back in the warm-up and his wicked left wing cross, deflected goalwards by a Barnet defender, was the nearest Town got to opening the scoring in the early skirmishes.

Akinde proved a constant menace and was only thwarted by the sprint speed of Cobblers stopper Adam Smith in smothering the striker's shot after a Northampton defensive slip on 17 minutes.

The 922 travelling fans found themselves in snarl-ups on the M1 pre-match and Barnet's box was equally congested. Sam Hoskins, one of Wilder's four personnel changes, tried to find space to cut inside but his powerful shot was repelled centrally by Graham Stack.

Although goalless at half-time the warning signs were there for the Cobblers.

D'Ath looked lost and thoroughly unhappy on the left hand side of midfield for Town while equally, Chris Hackett had little to offer on the right with no-one to cross to up top.

Dominic Calvert-Lewin, starting his first league game, was a willing runner but not the player to operate as the forward fulcrum in a 4-2-3-1 formation.

All in all, Cobblers' possession play was weaker than Barnet's with a tendency to rush counter-attacks. Northampton had a Ricky Holmes shaped hole down the left with the talented southpaw David Buchanan, stuck at full-back, unable to dictate proceedings as he surely can.

The introduction of Nicky Adams for Hackett on 58 minutes failed to rejuvenate flagging Town, leaving Barnet's ambush tactics to wreak havoc. There was more than a hint of offside during the build-up to Akinde's penalty opener and the challenge itself was a case of the merest of touches but from the wrong side by Taylor.

As Barnet's players took an age to ready themselves for the restart, Wilder was prepping Cobblers hot-shot Marc Richards but it was a case of too little, too late. Northampton had missed Ivan Toney badly and Richards' appearance as a 67th minute after-thought would not be enough to end Town's north London hoodoo.

Cobblers' 4-2-3-1 formation looks great with a full strength line-up and everyone on top form but with squad rotation and a gritty away game, it's clear that Northampton's squad is not as interchangeable as believed.

Not only that, but the strength in depth is weaker than first thought with Rod McDonald, Josh Lelan and Calvert-Lewin all making rookie mistakes. McDonald, in particular, appeared either nervous or some way short of standard which is concerning with Zander Diamond appearing to be made of glass.

Goalkeeper Adam Smith, Cobblers' man-of-the-match and find of the season, saved Town time after time with dominant close-up stops to repel the Bees.

Yet it was that man Akinde, who, not renowned for his speed, was able to get in behind the one-paced Northampton defence and round an unfortunate Smith for the last minute clincher.

Cobblers fans had jeered Akinde for an early miss but the truth is the striker had monstered Town. I'd sign him tomorrow with some of the Toney cash along with the elegant Luke Gambin.

Let's not forget Northampton's brilliant start to the season. However, it's a wake-up call for a Cobblers side who had been drawn into a false sense of security by the three-goal margins of victory over Exeter and joke club Blackpool.

Squad reinforcement is a definite requirement with a defender and a striker first on the shopping list. Cobblers had no defenders on their bench at Barnet which is crazy considering Sam Warburton's scoring start on loan to Rugby Town.

Nevertheless, Northampton could have fielded a team full of defenders and still gone down to defeat against the Bees given the hold bogey team Barnet have over them.

Chris Wilder will have to go with a full strength 11 in the upcoming League Two match against Plymouth Argyle and be done with it.

More so at Newcastle United in the League Cup this coming Tuesday or risk being picked apart by the Magpies.

Wilder admits his side fell short as Cobblers' perfect opening is ended

COBBLERS

Chris Wilder admitted that his Northampton Town side 'fell short' after the Cobblers' 100 per cent start to the season was brought to a halt by a 2-0 defeat at Barnet.

Town's boss saw his charges beaten in north London after a key flashpoint in the 63rd minute on Tuesday, when Cobblers midfielder Jason Taylor conceded a penalty and was sent off for bringing down Bees striker John Akinde.

The felled player stepped up to tuck away the resultant spot kick himself and he added a second late on to add some extra gloss to Barnet's win.

It means that after three victories and three clean sheets to start the season, Northampton will go into Saturday's League clash at home to Plymouth Argyle on a losing edge.

Wilder, who shrugged off suggestions that tinkering with his starting line-up contributed to the defeat, said: "I thought it was a pretty even game but we've just fallen a little bit short.

"The first goal was always going to be massive and with the double whammy with the sending off as well it was always going to be difficult for us to come back from that.

"I believe if we'd have got the first goal we would have gone on to win the game but we didn't and that's League Two football."

After the Plymouth game, league duties will take a back-seat for the Cobblers with a glamour trip to Premier League Newcastle United on Tuesday night, in the second round of the Capital One Cup.

Ivan Toney, the teenage striker who departed Northampton for the Magpies earlier this month, is an interesting potential starter for Steve McClaren's side.

Willey quits county to sign for Yorkshire

BY DAN PALMER
 sport@nmedia.co.uk

Northamptonshire's prize asset David Willey is leaving the county after signing a three year deal with Yorkshire.

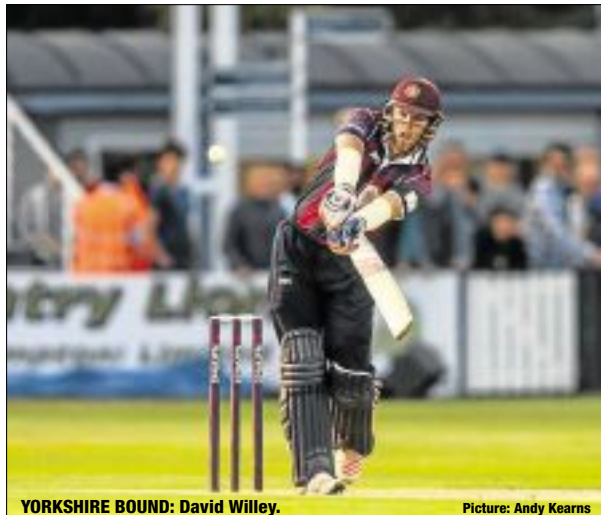

The England all-rounder has been widely tipped to depart Wantage Road and it has now been confirmed that the white rose county and Headingley will be his destination.

He will exit at the end of the season and will leave a huge void in the Northants dressing room with his explosive batting and handy knack of taking wickets with his left arm medium pacers often proving to be difference makers in matches.

It is thought that Willey, who made his ODI debut for England this year, wanted to move up to a team in Division One of the County Championship in order to improve his chances of gaining a test place.

With promotion from Division Two uncertain at Northants he has been allowed to leave despite having a year left on his contract, with some reports suggesting the county will be compensated with a £50,000 fee.

Willey, who smashed the fastest T20 ton by an Englishman when he made exactly 100 from 40 balls in last week's T20 Blast quarter final win over Sussex, said: "This has been a tough decision to make because of my personal attachment to The County Ground.

"My Dad played here for 17 years, I came here many, many times as a boy and dreamed for years of playing for Northants. I will always be grateful for the years of coaching and mentoring that I have received which gave me the best start to my career.

"However, I feel that the time is right to move on, to experience a new approach to training and to broaden my cricket. I am really excited about being part of a bigger team and working with Jason Gillespie and the rest of the lads.

"I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the staff and fans of Northants Cricket for your incredible support.

"I don't believe I would have achieved this much has it not been for the opportunities that Northants has given me. And of course a big thank you to the coaches and medical team and all the lads in the changing room."

Head coach David Ripley added: "I have known David since he was seven years old, so I have a tinge of sadness to see him leave but he goes with our best wishes.

"David Willey and Northants Cricket have been very good for each other and it wouldn't surprise me to see Dave back at the County Ground at some point in the future."

Willey starred with both bat and ball when Northants won the T20 Blast in 2013, scoring 60 in the final against Surrey and taking a hat-trick with the ball as he ended with figures of 4-9.

Northants return to finals day at Edgbaston later this month and another title would be the perfect way to call time on his spell with the county.

He said: "My work isn't finished yet, it would be incredible to finish the season with the T20 trophy."

Yorkshire's director of cricket Martyn Moxon welcomed his star new addition to the club.

"We are delighted that David has agreed to join us," he said.

"He is a highly talented all round cricketer and will be a great addition to our current squad.

"He will play a big part in helping us be competitive in all forms of the game and hopefully we can play our part in helping him realise his ambition of playing test cricket for England."

• There was better news for Northants yesterday when keeper Ben Duckett and batsman Rob Keogh signed new two year deals.
